

The core values of the Church of Saint Barnabas are real democracy, with no one member as a central figure, and respect for all other faiths. It is open minded sensible interest to all subject areas worth exploring. Philosophy Meta-physics, Science, Reason & Logic, Philology, Linguistics, History, Pre-history, Cosmology, Anthropology, Epistemology and Ontology. But overall we believe in common sense and the dire need in this world of corporate bullshit that projects where good people can meet other good people to share their troubles and small joys in this oftentimes seemingly sufferable world of pain, old age, disease and death. The light of life is fragile flames of real people with real feelings and reality with God becoming the common denominator. In praise of Him/Her/It/Them the ultrafidian holistic universe of potentially billions of universes which leaves one quite in awe of a certain majesty of infinity, and earth penetratingly deep emotions also.
